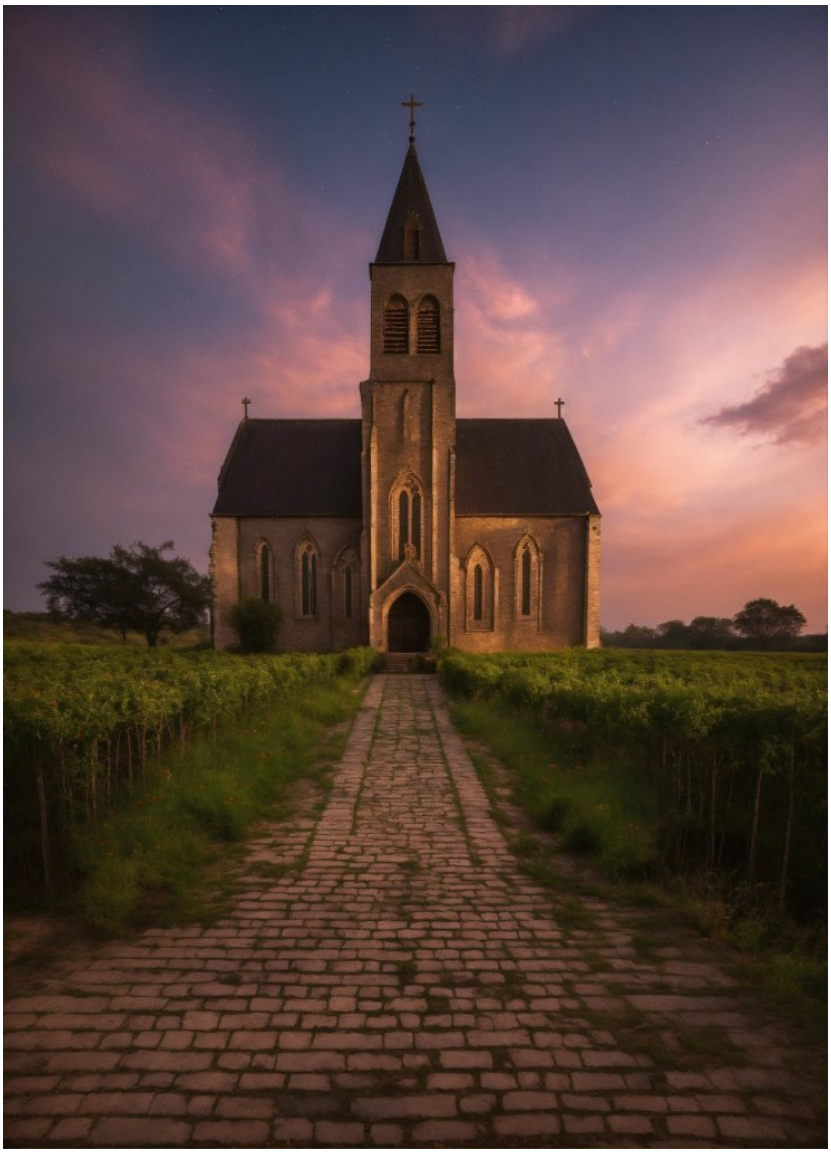
Divine Encounters: A Church Visit in 2014.

thelifeofmine3.wordpress.com/2022/03/03/church-visit-2014/

March 3, 2022



On January 31, 2014, before the public exams, students gathered at church to pray. Our teacher, Miss, entered the classroom and asked if I was comfortable being alone until they returned. I appreciated her thoughtfulness.

I wished I could have seen Pradeep before everyone left, but unfortunately, I couldn't. However, I did have a chance encounter with Nelson, who said goodbye to me, bringing a smile to my face.

As I mentioned earlier, the public exam students attended church, leaving me alone in the classroom. Instead of saying "nee vanthu irukalam" (you can stay here), Prici said "avanga avangaluku avanga istam" (they should be with the ones they like), which slightly stung me. However, my Appa reassured me that if he hadn't gone to Krishnagiri, he would have taken me to church with my schoolmates.

Even though my classmates expressed concern by saying, “Thaniya irunthuirupiyenu” (how did you manage alone?), I felt a sense of pride in their small gesture of concern.